On March 17, 2010, Ben Bernanke testified before the Committee on Financial Services, U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. This was three days after the initial version -- later revised -- of the Dodd-Frank banking reform bill was released to the media. Bernanke's testimony is one of the classic cases of institutional self-puffery.

The answer is not straightforward. China is committed to openness and export-led growth. A President Xi Jinping put it at Davos in January 2017, China is committed “to growing an open global economy.” In other words, Beijing will not obviously want to reshape the global trading regime in more restrictive directions.
