as bootsie said, blanking plate is best fitted where the pipe goes in to the cooler, nothing electrical should be disconnected so the ecu still thinks its working as it should.

L200 down on power/not revving after turbo change Goto page 1, 2 Next. It was blowing a lot of oil out of a breather pipe, after I drained some oil (slightly too high on the dipstick) it stopped. Although when you remove the filler cap it seems as if it has been running hot as there is wisps of smoke (hot oil) coming out.
